SANTA ANA, CALIFORNIA, MONDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 20, 1911.

MAIN OBJECT IS TO SEE ROADS

State Highway Commissioners' Stay Along the Way
Was Brief Indeed

FAVORABLE TO
EL CAMINO REAL

They Take Dinner at Mission
Village and Go on Their Way to San Diego

The three State Highway Commissioners—their names, B. A. Towne of Lodi, C. D. Blaney of Santa Clara, and N. D. Darling of Los Angeles—passed through Orange county today on their road from Los Angeles to San Diego. Their journey was marked by a brief conference at the courthouse with the Board of Supervisors and the County Highway Commissioners, during which the state commissioners explained that they cared rather to see roads than to hold conferences, yet their chief object was to find out where the greatest number of people want the state highway established.

Knowing that the state commissioners were coming, there gathered at the courthouse a number of representative men from Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton, La Habra, Newport Beach and Huntington Beach. The county highway commissioners, M. M. Crookshank, W. H. Burnham and Richard Egan, were present. The members of the Board of Supervisors were present. Chairman Talbert stated that it was not known exactly what was wanted in the way of a conference, but the state men desired to see the roads.

The meeting had voted to have the chairman of the county commission, the Board of Supervisors and the Associated Chambers of Commerce name a committee to go with the state men over the roads when the commissioners themselves arrived.

They stated that they had no time for a lengthy conference, and at their request the supervisors and county highway commissioners met with them for a few minutes.

The state men explained that they will return to Sacramento probably in December, and will then prepare a map showing a through road for the entire state.

"At present," said one of them, "we desire to find out what is wanted by the most people. In this county we are well pleased with El Camino Real. That is about the route recommended by the Board of Supervisors. We do not know definitely as yet about any of the roads to be improved. We believe that we can settle upon a route that will be satisfactory to a large majority of the people. The $18,000,000 bond issue is not big enough to build all the roads that all the counties would like, but it will build a through road. The least we can get off for per mile is $3000, and the road will cost from that all the way up to $60,000 per mile."

The three commissioners came down from Los Angeles by automobile. They came through Whittier, Fullerton, Anaheim and Santa Ana. From here they were accompanied to San Juan Capistrano by Richard Egan, who had ordered dinner for them at the mission town. State Highway Engineer Fletcher went to San Diego by rail.

Porter of Fullerton was here and in conversation with the commissioners declared that he was ready to prove that the route to be followed from Fullerton should be along Orangethorpe avenue, through Buena Park and on west, and not by the north road through Fullerton to Whittier. While the Board of Supervisors originally recommended the Orange-thorpe road, there has been considerable pressure brought to bear in favor of the north road through Fullerton to Whittier. Whittier has been working hard for that road, and a large element at Fullerton favors it.

Reprieve Till Xmas As Price Of Confession

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 20.—Reports to the effect that Henry Clay Beattie Jr., under sentence to be electrocuted next Friday for the murder of his young wife, offers to confess if granted a reprieve, were hotly denied here today by Henry Beattie, the father of the doomed man.

It is stated that Beattie had offered to make a confession of his crime if allowed a reprieve of thirty days, postponing the execution until after Christmas.

Another version of the story is that Gov. Mann made the proposition offering to reprieve young Beattie until Christmas Eve if he would confess the crime which the Governor feels convinced that he committed. It is said that Beattie is seriously considering the proposal, while the father strenuously opposes it.

PURSE GRABBED BY UNKNOWN MAN

Thief Jerked Mrs. Peterson's
Hand-bag and Ran South
on Orange Avenue

OFFICERS SEARCH
BUT GET NO TRACE

Man Is Described as Short,
Heavy-set and Dressed in Dark Clothes

A thief snatched a hand-bag from Mrs. C. O. Peterson Saturday night about 8 o'clock, and made good his escape.

Mrs. Peterson was walking along First street going toward her home at 424 East First street. She heard someone coming up behind her whistling as he came. Just before catching up with her, the man stopped whistling, jumped forward, seized the purse, jerked it from the owner, and turning on to Orange avenue, ran swiftly south.

Mrs. Peterson caught but a glimpse of the thief. She says he was short, heavy-set and wore dark clothing. She could not say whether he was Mexican or white.

The purse was a valuable alligator hand-bag, rather large, and contained among other things a pair of glasses, between $4 and $5, some ribbon and a pair of silk gloves.

Officers Murray, Heard and Ryan and Deputy Sheriff Jenigan were informed of the theft soon after it occurred, and they made a thorough search, but without success. The officers believe the bag will be found some place where it was thrown after the money was taken out.

MAID DESERTER TO MOORE'S SIDE

REDWOOD CITY, Cal., Nov. 20.—When the continuation of the divorce suit filed against Millionaire J. J. Moore by his wife, Lillian, was taken up by Judge Buck's court here today, Lena Behrman, Mrs. Moore's maid, was placed on the stand to continue her testimony. It proved anything but a complete substantiation of the divorce-seeking wife's story, the girl declaring that Moore had never kicked or abused his wife that she knew of. Attorney E. B. McLaughlin, representing the husband, put the questions.

The maid developed a side of the story contrary to that expected Saturday, when she surprised Moore's attorneys by rendering damaging testimony. She went into a detailed description of the "fight" between Moore and his wife last February. Where Mrs. Moore had stated that Moore threw Mrs. Moore's little daughter, Lillian, violently against the bed in their room, the maid declared today that she saw the child fall back on the bed but did not see Moore throw her.

ARREST OF REYES MAY NIP REVOLT IN THE VERY BUD

Cavalry under command of Captain G. B. Conley, arrived here today en route to Laredo. The remaining troops of the Fourth, are expected to follow troop I.

Maderistas here declare that the arrest of Gen. Bernardo Reyes here, nips the Revista rebellion in the bud, and they expect no further trouble from that quarter. It is understood the government is preparing to deport him.

ZUNIGA AGAIN IS HEADED FOR PRISON

Two Years in Folsom Seemed
Not to Put Fear of Law
Into His Heart

DREW REVOLVER
ON WHITE MAN

Jose Cruz Still Has to Learn
That It Is Not Always Safe to Shoot

Valentine Zuniga seemed not to profit by his two years in the penitentiary at Folsom, where he was sent in August, 1909, for brutally beating an old woman. Zuniga is in the county jail again, and he is on the high road to another prison term. Saturday night he was arrested at Talbert after he had shot a Mexican through the cheek, after he had pulled his gun on George Bore, a white man, after he had pulled a knife and tried to bury its blade in the brother of the man who was first shot.

Zuniga's penitentiary term was given him on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. On the night of July 29, 1909, returning from Los Angeles, he got off the car at Cypress with an old French woman, Eugenie Da Bo. A few rods from the depot, Zuniga beat the woman over the head with a club and threw her into a ditch. Just before Zuniga was taken to prison his wife gave birth to a baby at the Santa Ana hospital, where the woman and her baby and son remained for a number of months.

After Zuniga got out of prison he took his family to Talbert. Saturday night the two men were drinking at Zuniga's house. According to Zuniga's story, Reyes got to talking loudly, and Zuniga ordered him out of the house. Reyes grabbed a revolver, and Zuniga grappled with him. In the scuffle the gun was discharged, and the bullet entered Reyes' face not an inch from the outer corner of his right eye, and came out near the ear. Half an inch more toward the nose, and Reyes would have been killed. Reyes tells a different story. He says Zuniga shot him deliberately.

The two men then went to Parsons' store, where a number of Mexicans were congregated. At the store sitting on the counter were George Bore, Alex. Foltz and John Bradley.

Zuniga was crazy with drink. He broke from the Mexicans, and approaching Bore jerked out the revolver and said he would kill him and everybody else in sight. By that time Nawar Reyes, brother of Roman, had said some words that offended Zuniga. Turning to him Zuniga jerked out a knife, first pocketing his revolver. Nawar grabbed the knife, and the two men began to struggle for it. When Bore grabbed the revolver from Zuniga's pocket and the big frame of Sam Talbert broke through the crowd and in a few seconds he had Zuniga's knife and had Zuniga in hand-cuffs. Constable Squires of Santa Ana was notified and he took the Reyes brothers and Zuniga to jail.

Jose Cruz Again
Jose Cruz is another Mexican who seems not to have profited by past experience. Cruz was justified in using a revolver once, and he seems to have acquired a notion he could use it most any old time.

Cruz was a witness against Cabello, convicted of murder at Los Alamitos. He thought other Mexicans had it in for him. Near Anaheim he got into trouble with a man who tried to kill Cruz, and Cruz wounded him. Cruz was acquitted.

Saturday night there was some drinking going on at Los Alamitos. Cruz had an altercation with David Montego. Montego was unarmed. Cruz drew a revolver. His friends told him to put it away, but Cruz decided to take a shot first. The bullet hit Montego in the left leg, shattering the bone well above the knee. Montego is in the hospital here. Constable Squires and Deputy Law went to Los Alamitos and got Cruz, who was waiting for them at the sugar factory.

FATALITY PURSUING THE McNAMARA CASE

Four of Jury Panel Already Excused For Illness While Misfortunes May Cut Out Three Others

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 20.—That a strange fatality seems to have intervened in the McNamara case to prevent the speedy settlement of the issues involved, was brought strongly home today when still another juror, passed for cause, and subjected to peremptory challenge, was eliminated because of illness.

The wife of E. D. Green, a permanent juror, is ailing at her home, and is worrying because her husband cannot come to her. Should her condition become worse, Green could hardly be held by the court.

Then Charles Sexton, brother of J. B. Sexton, also of the permanent panel, is at the point of death, while Byron Link, president of the Pasadena Milling Company, a third member of the permanent panel, is having difficulty with his eyes, and is compelled to treat them much of the time he is absent from the jury box.

Before the initial panel of jurors qualified in the case, three were eliminated by illness. First, Seaborn Manning was excused because of incipient tuberculosis; then after taking the oath as a permanent juror, W. H. Clark, a retired undertaker, was excused because of heart disease, and Samuel Mendenhall was excused because his mother had suffered a stroke of paralysis.

The climax came today when William Nicholson, a local grocer, was eliminated because his wife, in perfect health, when he was chosen as a juror, developed acute appendicitis today, and will have to be operated on. Nicholson was sent to her bedside, being excused by the consent of both sides.

PROGRESSIVES TO WAIVE ADVANTAGE

Extra Session Call to Include Demand for Presidential Primary

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—Declaring as at present situated, they are in full control in California, and could with no trouble send a full La Follette delegation to the Republican national convention, Governor Hiram Johnson today declared that the Progressives will forego their advantage, and that he will include in his call for an extra session, the demand for a presidential primary.

The governor said that in every state in the Union where the reactionaries are in control, the people are demanding a direct primary for choice of president, but that the reactionaries stoutly and defiantly deny the primary. The only states in the Union, the governor said, where a presidential preference at the primaries is accorded are the progressive states, where the progressives are in control.

BETHLEHEM BURNS MORTGAGES

Debt-Bearing Papers Consumed In 1900-Year-Old Roman Lamp
Yesterday

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 20.—In a flame from a Roman lamp which was made nearly 1900 years ago the last mortgages of the Bethlehem Institute were burned with due formality yesterday morning at the First Congregational church by Judge Curtis Wilbur and the Rev. Dana Bartlett, superintendent of the institute.

The burning of the mortgages leaves the Bethlehem institute, which has property now valued at $50,000, free of debt. The mortgages represented a total value of $8000.

As the little old lamp was obtained from Tarsus, the home of the Apostle Paul, by the Rev. William Horace Day, about a year ago, it is believed possible that it was used by Paul.

The Bethlehem Institute was established in this city about twenty years ago, and although it was at that time a mission of the First Congregational church, it was later made non-denominational.

GOVERNMENT SUIT FOR OIL FIELDS

Billion Dollars Involved in U.
S. Claims—Would Recover 444,000 Acres

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Before leaving for the West to begin the billion dollar California oil land case against the Southern Pacific Railroad, B. D. Townsend, special assistant to Attorney General Wickersham, yesterday consented to outline the general policy of the government with reference to innocent purchasers and the communities which may be directly affected by the litigation.

Mr. Townsend has had full charge of the investigation which the government has been conducting for several months, and is preparing the complaint, which will be filed. He therefore speaks authoritatively. He said today:

"I want the people of California, and particularly those who are interested in the oil industry, to feel assured that no litigation is to be started which will upset the commercial prosperity of any section of California and do more harm than good."

"The fight in which the government is about to engage will be directed against a situation which is not only unlawful but which is essentially in opposition to the complete and proper commercial development of the oil land riches. As to the land subsidies granted by the government to the Southern Pacific, and on which lands oil is being produced or is known to exist, the equities are all with the United States, and I firmly believe that we will be able fully to establish this in the courts."

"In the Oregon-California railroad and grant cases, in which the government has so far successfully litigated the title to 2,300,000 acres of land, a policy was pursued of only joining as defendants those who held 1000 or more acres."

There are about 444,000 acres in California included in the government grants to the Southern Pacific which will be directly or indirectly included in the coming suits. All the great California oil fields are within the sphere of action. It is conservatively estimated that the potential if not actual value of the property involved is at least a billion dollars.

WOMAN WHO GAVE WORTHLESS
CHECK NOW IN COUNTY JAIL
Mrs. Frances Allen, formerly a resident of Olive, was placed in the county jail today by Constable Jackson on a charge of issuing a fictitious check. She was arrested at Coronado.

The woman is accused of having passed a worthless check at the Crookshank-Beatty Dry Goods Store in Santa Ana on Oct. 18. She is alleged to have gone to the store and there bought some goods. She sat down and wrote out a check for $20, payable to the store, and signed the name of Mrs. J. B. Allen. The check was returned to the store as worthless.

The woman was later arrested at San Diego, but by a misunderstanding the police turned her loose, thinking that the case here had been dismissed. The mother of the woman came into the store and paid the store's loss.

The woman was formerly waitress at the Palace Restaurant on East Fourth street. The same day that

REBELS MOVE ON NANKING IN FORCE

MASSACRES REPORTED
OF MANY FOREIGNERS

Americans and Japanese Are Said to Have Landed on Chinese Soil

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—Forces of rebel troops under foreign trained officers are converging in on Nanking from every point, and a forced battle is expected at any moment, according to dispatches received here today by the Chinese Press.

The imperialist forces, 11,000 strong are strongly entrenched on Purple Hill, where they will make their last stand for the Manchu dynasty. The rebels are said to be 50,000 strong.

Skirmishes are said to be frequent outside the walls, but no attack will be made by the rebels until their troops are all in position.

MASSACRES ARE REPORTED TO INCLUDE AMERICANS

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Confirmation of the reported massacre of foreigners in Hsin Fu, was received here today in messages to the Exchange telegraph from Tien Tsin. The number of victims was not stated. Most of the foreigners there are English and Scandinavian Baptists. Apparently the rebels are responsible for the massacre, they having recently captured the city. The reports of the massacre of french missionaries in the Lolos territory, in south Szechuen province are unconfirmed.

It is believed, however, that intervention by the powers cannot much longer be delayed. But when it comes to taking a hand in the Chinese situation there is grave danger of friction between the European powers. England suspects Japan and Russia, believing that they have secretly agreed to partition China to the exclusion of other nations.

AMERICAN WOMAN MAY HAVE BEEN IN MASSACRE

Further messages from Tien Tsin say that twenty-five Europeans, including an American woman physician, were in the massacre. The American woman doctor is the young wife of one of the Scandinavian missionaries.

HANKOW BATTLE IN PROGRESS

WAS REPORTED THIS MORNING
TIENTSIN, Nov. 20.—A desperate battle was reported this morning as progressing at Hankow, with the Imperialists losing heavily. Hundreds are declared to have been killed, and it seemed but a matter of hours until the rebels would recapture the city. The soldiers of the Throne made a valiant defense but are said to be greatly outnumbered.

FOREIGN TROOPS SAID TO HAVE LANDED AT CHI FU

TOKYO, Nov. 20.—Unconfirmed reports received here today are that a company of Americans had been landed at Chi Fu, where a force of Japanese troops had also landed on Chinese soil last Saturday.

ABDICATION DEMAND CROWDING ON PREMIER

PEKIN, Nov. 20.—Demands for the throne's abdication are crowding upon Premier Yuan Shi Kai, who doubtless will be forced to make a decision within a week. It seems to be a case of fight or ask the court to depart from the capital. Every suggestion for abdication is accompanied by promises of protection and ample pension.

It was reported last night that the premier has ordered a renewed attack upon Han Yang and Wu Chang. If this is true, it signifies his choice. Rear Admiral Murdock telegraphs from Nanking that the American consul is about the New Orleans, with the archives, and that all Americans have left the city with the exception of a few members of the Red Cross. As he could not protect American property in Nanking without landing 300 marines, prepared to sustain a siege, he has sent none of his men ashore.

It is reported that the imperialists have routed a rebel force of 3000 Hunanese. The rebel casualties, as reported, were 800, and the imperialists 200.

WOULD CANCEL REALTY TRADE

Litigation Begun in Los Angeles Concerns 100 Acres in Orange County

Los Angeles Times: Charging misrepresentation in a property swap involving a farm in New Florence, Mo., and 100 acres of Orange County land, Theodore and Mary V. Lee, who parted with the farm, Saturday applied for a superior court injunction, hoping to invalidate the trade. They name E. A. and Emily L. Gray of No. 124 West Sixth street as defendants.

The Lees say that their farm consists of twenty acres under cultivation and that the Orange County property of the Grays covers 100 acres. The Lees say they have listed the land as fertile and well adapted to farming, but the plaintiffs charge that but forty acres of it is available for cultivation.

The trade progressed so far that the transfer papers were placed in escrow and turned over to the Title Guarantee and Trust Company, which is named as a defendant in an effort to cancel the bargain.

Physiologists Disagree

There are few persons who realize how greatly physiologists are at variance in their estimate of the actual work performed by the Liver. While all agree that it is the largest and one of the very important glands of the body, when it comes to the question of the actual work performed, there seems to be a wide diversity of opinion.

Practically all are agreed, however, that the principal work of the Liver is the separation of such materials contained in the body as might exert a poisonous influence upon the body unless thrown off.

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM IS COLUMBIA'S PROBLEM

President Butler Wishes to Carry Out Ideas of Joseph Pulitzer Whose Gift of Million Will Found School

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—"We can not guarantee to produce good newspaper men, any more than we can guarantee to produce good engineers or good teachers; but we can and will train students to become such if they have the root of the matter in them."

Thus spoke Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, today in regard to the future of the School of Journalism to be founded under a gift of $1,000,000 by the late Joseph Pulitzer.

Since the death of Mr. Pulitzer, when the endowment became available, this is the problem that confronts Columbia educators: "How can we so equip a class of young men— inexperienced, but ambitious, to become journalists—that at the completion of their studies they may 'cover a fire or write editorials' with equal facility?"

Frequent conferences between the trustees and advisory board, composed of editors appointed by Mr. Pulitzer before his death, have been held. The opening of the school before next year is regarded as impossible.

"With the establishment of a School of Journalism a new academic field is entered upon," said President Butler today. "Although, in a sense, it is experimental, the university officials, backed by a large portion of the influential press, believe the school will be abundantly successful. 'If journalism is a calling that requires no previous training, it must be an exception to all other trades and occupations,' continued President Butler when it was suggested that newspaper men 'are born, not made.' With Mr. Pulitzer he believes that "the only position in our republic a man can fill by the simple fact of birth is that of an idiot."

"Natural aptitude, of course, will be the surest foundation for usefulness in any career," Dr. Butler said. "Practical experience, well analyzed and well understood, is also of prime importance. But between these two lie the study of principles and practices, the acquisition of the subsidiary information which must be drawn upon and the practice, under criticism, which gives the beginner the benefit of the experience of others. All these the university can furnish for journalism as it furnishes them for engineering or teaching."

President Butler believes that experienced editors should have charge of instructing pupils in the scientific study of journalism itself, after they have acquired a firm grounding in all branches that necessarily must be subsidiary. Mr. Pulitzer, in a defense of his school of journalism, published shortly after his death, suggested this plan, and it undoubtedly will be carried out when the institution is organized.

"In organizing and carrying on the school of journalism," said President Butler on this point, "we have the advantage from the outset of the suggestions and criticisms of an advisory board composed of prominent journalists having expert knowledge on the subject."

While the plans for the operation of the school are yet in a more or less chaotic state, it is certain that the suggestions of Mr. Pulitzer regarding the courses to be pursued will be followed to a great extent. Copies of the great editor's defense of his journalistic school theory have been sent to all prospective students and others who have made inquiries about the plan.

The curriculum outlined by Mr. Pulitzer in this document included: The principles of law, as pertaining to the profession of journalism; literature with special reference to the literature of politics; the study of truth and accuracy and the art of being able to find facts when they are required, rather than cramming a student full of them in school; history, with reference to the rise and fall of nations and the making and breaking of great public institutions; economics; modern languages to such an extent that it will give a newspaperman access to other than his native tongue; the ethics of journalism, for, said Mr. Pulitzer, "above all else lies its moral sense, courage and integrity."

Mr. Pulitzer's plan, and the plan that probably will be adopted by the university, regarding the study of newspapers is as follows, according to President Butler: "Have twenty or more editors, either retired or in active work, give a course of lectures on the daily newspapers, pointing out to the students the good and the bad points in each; have the students get out a paper of their own under a city editor who will wield a pen as ruthlessly as a real editor does, but who would do what the real city editor has not time to do—tell why he did it; teach the pupils that it is not type nor presses nor advertising that makes a newspaper, but brains, conscience and character, working out to public service."

SANTA ANAS WON 6 TO 0

High School Boys Defeated San Diego Saturday in Hard Fought Game

(By Galo)

Santa Ana scored another victory by defeating the San Diego High football team by a score of 6 to 0 at Lincoln Park last Saturday afternoon. But the score does not tell a true story of the game for it would have been much larger but for San Diego's desperate rallies under their own goal posts. At all times and in all departments of the game the Santa Ana boys outplayed their opponents and kept the ball in San Diego's end of the field most of the time.

Santa Ana during most of the game used the fast open style of play, making yards by end runs, forward passes and punts, though Barker, playing at full was sent through the line at times for gains of 6 or 7 yards. He is a new man at football and up to a month ago had never been in a game. He was brought out to practice on account of his weight, for he weighs 198 lbs. stripped, for it was thought that he would make a good guard, but on account of his inexperience he was a misfit in every position until he was tried out at fullback. Here he was a success, for he had both weight and speed, he runs low and hits the line hard.

The first score of the game was made in the first quarter when Santa Ana worked the ball down to San Diego's 9 yard line. Here they were held for two downs, then seeing that it was impossible to make their yards on account of penalties, "Brick" Grouard dropped back and kicked an easy placement. The ball stayed in San Diego's territory from this time on, the half ending with the ball on San Diego's 12 yard line in Santa Ana's possession.

The second half opened well for the home team, Bill Warren, the big center, getting the ball on the kickoff and making a run of 30 yards to San Diego's 45 yard line. From here it was worked down to San Diego's 3 yard line where it was lost on downs. Here West, who had played a good game at right end, was taken out on account of injuries and Timmons put into his place. This was West's second important game at end, as he was transferred to this position from quarter soon after the San Diego game two weeks ago, but he shows up well at the new position.

San Diego punted, but the ball was again rushed down to their 1 yard line by several long runs by the two backs, "Big Spud" and "Little Spud" Morrison. These two brothers are about the same in size, play the same style of game and look alike in football clothes, so that the Rooters Club which was out in force yelled long and loud for "Spud" and didn't know which brother it was cheering for. When on San Diego's 1 yard line Santa Ana again lost the ball on downs when a touchdown seemed certain. The ball was recovered and Grouard kicked a placement from the 20 yard line, making the last score of the game.

Lantz at left end played one of the best games of the day, frequently breaking up interference and then getting the runner, he was fast in getting down the field under punts and oftentimes nailed the man catching the ball in his tracks. Without him many of Santa Ana's yard gaining forward passes could not have been worked.

In the center of the line the absence of Swanner at left guard whose shoulder was twisted at Pasadena last week, was greatly felt. Three subs were tried out in his position, but none of them quite filled the big hole in the line.

Captain Newcomer, who was moved from half to quarter two weeks ago, ran the team well, picking out San Diego's weak points with but few failures.

SOME PEOPLE'S IDEA OF HEAVEN

In his speech at a complimentary banquet tendered him in this city, last week, Senator William Alden Smith, with great impressiveness, described a scene he had witnessed in the United States Supreme Court. It was the rendering of a decision by Justice Hughes giving justice to a poor ignorant Alabama negro. Inferentially Mr. Smith deified the United States Supreme Court. It called to mind President Taft's Pocotello, Idaho, speech, in which he said:

"I love judges and I love courts. They are my ideals on earth that typify what we shall meet hereafter in Heaven under a just God."

We haven't the time nor the facilities to look up Senator Smith's public speeches on the recall of judges, but it is to be hoped they are more consistent than those of the President, as culled by the Saturday Evening Post.

In his first annual message to congress, December, 1909, Mr. Taft said: "The deplorable delays in the administration of civil and criminal law have received the attention of committees of the American Bar association. * * * I do not doubt for one moment that much of the lawless violence and cruelty exhibited in lynchings is directly due to the uncertainties and injustice growing out of the delays in trials, judgments and the executions thereof by our courts."

In his message of December, 1910, he said: "One great, crying need in the United States is the cheapening of the cost of litigation by simplifying judicial procedure and expediting final judgment. Under present conditions, the poor man is at a woeful disadvantage in a legal contest with a corporation or a rich opponent."

Much else in the same strain might be quoted from the president's utterances—suggesting, certainly, that his conceptions of heaven are deplorably inadequate.

Away back in 1895, Mr. Taft, then a judge of the United States circuit court, said:

"The opportunity freely and publicly to criticize judicial action is of vastly more importance to the body politic than the immunity of courts and judges from unjust aspersions and attack. * * * But the non-professional criticism also is by no means without its uses, even if accompanied, as it often is, by direct attack upon the judicial fairness and motives of the occupants of the bench; for if the law is but the essence of common sense the protests of many average men may evidence a defect in judicial conclusions, though based on the nicest legal reasoning and profoundest learning."

IT WOULD BE FALSE ECONOMY

"If the school board had asked for $100,000 for a polytechnic high school, the bonds would carry; but the request for $200,000—well, I doubt if it will be granted."

Thus spoke a well-known citizen a few days ago.

The inference, of course, is that the request for $200,000 is extravagant.

On the contrary, it would have been extravagance to ask for less.

The experience of every growing city in Southern California is that it costs much more to provide school facilities from year to year, or for two or three years in advance, than it does to provide for five and ten years in advance. Indeed every attempt to provide for five and ten years in advance has proved an expensive failure, because the growth of population and school attendance has always exceeded the advance estimate.

Although Santa Ana isn't growing as fast as most of the other good towns in Southern California, if the attendance at the Santa Ana high school shall continue to increase for the next five years at the same rate it has increased during the past year it will, in 1916, be twice as large as it is now.

There is every reason to believe Santa Ana will grow faster during the next five years than it has during the same period last past.

Since last year California shows an increase of 18,460 in the attendance of school children, and an increase of 156,916 in population, according to Job Wood, statistician in the office of State Superintendent of Public Instruction Hyatt. The school figures are exact, the population figures just estimated.

In 1910, according to Wood's data, 368,391 children attended the public schools of the state; in 1911 the attendance had been 386,851. The fig-

Why Saloons Should Be Kept Out of the Fifth Supervisorial District

FORWARD OR BACKWARD?

(BY MRS. HOWARD A. WASSUM)

The question is asked, "Why should the saloons be kept out of the Fifth supervisorial district?" In answer to the above, we could quote many reasons, namely: The influence and temptation to the boys and girls; the temptation to the moderate drinker and the old drunkard; the awful result to the families of these drinkers and to the drinkers themselves, leading to crime and vice, thereby filling prisons, insane asylums and poor houses. All these reasons have been drilled into us ever since we were little children, but the one reason that appeals to me more than any other is,—why should we retrograde in morals instead of progressing onward and upward?

Years ago, our temperance people fought the battle and won the victory over the enemy in our county, and why should we now retreat and fall back, giving up our vantage ground already gained in our district? Voters men and women, rouse up, for the enemy is at hand. Pick up your guns, the ballots, and on election day, rout the enemy, and we will have gained the victory, freeing our beautiful country from King Alcohol.

The saloon does not contribute to the health or comfort of our people as we all know. The fundamental thought of popular government is "the greatest good to the greatest number," and will that be so if this measure passes? The saloon stands boldly athwart the path of our country's progress and if this measure carries our "richest little county" will have had one of the worst drawbacks it can possibly have. How proud we have been to say: "Our county is dry and our county seat is dry."

Having recently returned from a thirteen hundred mile automobile trip through the state, the contrast between the "dry" and "wet" counties was very perceptible. On this drive, we did not need the signposts to tell us that we were outside of our most southerly counties, for something more conspicuous than little signposts, the open saloons, marred the scenery of our picturesque California.

ures are segregated into three classes—those for children in the high schools, the elementary schools and kindergartens.

In 1910 the high school attendance was 39,115, against 44,489 for 1911, making a gain of 5374. In 1910 the elementary school attendance was 322,361, against 334,595 for 1911, making a gain of 12,234, and in 1910 the kindergarten attendance was 6915, against 7767 for 1911, showing a gain of 852.

ORANGE AND LEMON INDUSTRY

The following, written to the Pacific Rural Press by H. W. Kruckenberg of Los Angeles, is of interest to orange growers:

With all due respect to the orange and lemon growing industry north of the Tehachapi mountains, Southern California is the dominant factor in the production of citrus fruits in the country.

At this writing (October 11) the total number of carloads of oranges for this season's shipments is 36,400, that for lemons 6,525, making a grand total of 42,925 carloads. At present the daily number of carloads going forth will average 35 of oranges, and possibly 10 to 12 of lemons. It is thought, on a conservative basis, that the crop-year will finally total 43,500 carloads. Estimated in boxes, the total is something like 14,200,000.

Allowing for the cost of marketing in the East, taking into account distribution, jobbers' profits, etc., the final values of California's orange and lemon crop must represent a sum not far from $50,000,000. The significance of the industry in our rural economy is illustrated in its bearing on the prosperity of the smaller towns and communities.

Thus we note the year's business done by the Claremont Citrus Association amounted to 91 carloads of oranges, selling for $400,816.12, of which sum the growers received $315,268.68. Another unit, the Mutual Orange Distributors of Redlands, shipped 3170 cars of oranges for the season, commanding $3,612,174. After deducting freight, icing, etc., there remained for distribution among the owners of trees, $2,250,000, representing an increase of 50 per cent over last year's business.

It is factors like these that speak eloquently of the substantial character of the citrus industry. Is it any wonder that, in spite of some drawbacks, the state is still planting annually a large additional acreage

Passing through the incorporated cities, where saloons are under police regulations, one grows somewhat accustomed to the unsightly dens, but when one travels over beautiful, winding country roads up through the mountains into redwood forests, then out over the plains, one passes very frequently into little villages like Capistrano, El Toro, or Tustin, in which there are no police regulations, whatsoever. It is here that the saloons seem to flourish. In the "wet" counties.

These little towns may not have very many stores, or other public buildings, but they always have from two to a half dozen saloons. The saloons are not only to be found in the little villages, but they are scattered every two or three miles along the roads as well, between the villages, he distance between them varying according to the settlements of the country. The saloons were wide open even days in the week. Do you know, or have you thought about it, voters of the Fifth supervisorial district, that we have no Sunday closing law and if this district votes in the saloons, that in all probability these saloons will be wide open on Sunday? There is no state law to prevent them from being opened. On our drive we found in the "wet" outside of the incorporated cities, that all the saloons, with no exception, were wide open on Sunday and they looked as if they were doing better business than on week day, if one could judge by the number of horses and rigs that were tied to the watering troughs and hitching posts in front of the saloons. Drinking troughs for horses are always placed before the doors of saloons, they being indispensable drawing cards.

In this fight, where stand you? It is to be hoped that your intelligence, your integrity and your brotherly love will meet this enemy with determined opposition, thereby keeping "the richest little county" in the state clean as it has been heretofore, so voters, one and all, look well to your ballot and vote, "NO SALOONS," November 25th, 1911.

The Gypsying

I wish we might go gypsying one day the while we're young.
On a blue October morning,
Beneath a cloudless sky,
When all the world's a vibrant harp
The winds of God have strung.
And gay as tossing torches
The maples light up by The rising sun before us—a golden bubble swung—
I wish we might go gypsying one day the while we're young.

I wish we might go gypsying one day before we're old—
To step it with the wild west wind
And sing the while we go
Through far, forgotten orchards
Hung with jewels red and gold;
Through cool and fragrant forests
where never sun may show,
To stand upon a high hill and watch the mist unfold—
I wish we might go gypsying one day before we're old.

I wish we might go gypsying, dear lad,
the while we care—
The while we've heart for hazard-
ing,
The while we've will to sing,
The while we've wit to hear the call,
And youth and mirth to spare,
Before a day may find us too sad for gypsying.
Before a day may find us too dull to dream and dare—
I wish we might go gypsying, dear lad, the while we care.

Magazine.

WAVES AND BILLOWS ON THE ATLANTIC

"As Well as Ever," Is Pastor Russell's Message.

On the Atlantic Returning From Most Successful Lecturing Trip Abroad—Says That Church's Present Experiences Are by Way of Preparation For Her Future Work.

PASTOR RUSSELL

Nov. 19.—"As well as ever, thank God," was Pastor Russell's message to the millions who read his sermons weekly in the secular press. His text was from Psalm xlii, 1-8, especially the words "All thy waves and thy billows are gone over me," St. David spoke of his own experiences, his own tribulations; but prophetically he represented the Messiah—Head and Body—Jesus and His saintly few gathered during this Age out of all nations, sects and parties—"the Church of the First-born, whose names are written in heaven"—Hebrews xii, 23.

own experiences, his own tribulations; but prophetically he represented the Messiah—Head and Body—Jesus and His saintly few gathered during this Age out of all nations, sects and parties—"the Church of the First-born, whose names are written in heaven"—Hebrews xii, 23.

In Love Not In Anger.

The Prophet's experiences—were after wave of trouble, disappointments, etc.—he knew were not evidences of God's disfavor, but contrarywise proofs of the Heavenly Father's love and care—evidences that he was being taught of God, in preparation for a work which he was to do. He was pursued by Satan's devices and was like an antelope in the chase, famished for water. "As the hart panteth after the water brooks, so panteth my soul after thee, oh God;" "My soul thirsteth for God, for the living God. When shall I come and appear before Thee, oh God? When will my trials, my testing be finished? When shall I be received into everlasting fellowship as the Son of the Highest?"

The people in general could not understand how Divine favor could be with one so tempted, so tried, so beset by persecutors, so maligned; as he said, "Mine enemies speak evil of me: When shall he die and his name perish? If he come to me as a reporter, he speaketh falsely; his heart gathereth iniquity to itself; when he goeth abroad he telleth it." "All that hate me whisper together against me."—Psalm xli, 5-7.

—for Minor Ailments such as Sprains, Burns, Cuts, Scalds, Bruises, and other flesh wounds. There is nothing better than EUCALYPTUM. At all drug stores, 25c.

Full of faith St. David would not be overwhelmed. His faith would outstride the storms. He would learn his lesson. He would thus demonstrate his faith, his loyalty to God.

The Greater David—Beloved.

Pastor Russell declared the most important feature of St. David's career centered in the fact that he typified the Messiah—Head and Members. The name David signifies Beloved, and Messiah is the beloved Son of God. He is the Chief or Head over this house of sons, all of whom are God's dear children—Beloved. Thus the prophecies of the future in which David figures prominently are properly understood to refer to the great work of Messiah's Kingdom—the Throne of David will be the Throne of Messiah which will be established under the whole heavens.

The waves and billows of trouble which passed over the Prophet David, typified the trials and difficulties of the narrow way in which Jesus and His faithful followers of the new creation must walk to attain the promised glory, honor and immortality. St. David's trials of faith and loyalty to God typified the faith and loyalty of Christ Jesus and the Church amid the trials that will come with the end of the present night time, ushering in the New Day, in which Christ will reign in righteousness for the overthrow of sin and death. They may rejoice in hope, knowing that all things are working together for good to them, because they love God supremely. (Romans viii, 28.) "Weeping may endure for a night but joy cometh in the morning."—Psalm xxx, 5.

Our Mission Now—and Then.

Sin, the fall, degradation and selfishness have had the effect of hardening the hearts of mankind. They are stony-hearted by reason of the prevalent selfishness; the tender-hearted, who love righteousness, are bruised—wounded—broken. This heart-breaking is not injurious.

The broken-hearted are the more ready to receive the message of God's love and mercy. It is of this broken-hearted class that the Lord is making up His Elect Church. "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest." So far from its being the mission of the Church to break men's hearts it is the very reverse—it is theirs "to bind up the broken-hearted."

Then will come the Church's future work for which all of her present experiences are preparations—are being overruled by Divine providence. Present experiences with trials and difficulties, battling with the waves of trouble and obtaining Divine assistance to surmount them, will all be valuable preparations of the Church for her future work of glory. Then she will be perfect with her Redeemer on His heavenly throne. How much her own present experiences will serve to make this class sympathetic and merciful priests of God toward men "in the Ages to come" (Ephesians ii, 6, 7), note but God can foretell.

FAREWELL BANQUET

Beta Sigmas Tender Feast to Retiring Class Teacher, H. B. Heninger

The young ladies of the Beta Sigma Sunday School class of the First Presbyterian church held a farewell banquet Friday evening at 6:30, in honor of H. B. Heninger and his wife. Mr. Heninger has taught the Beta Sigmas for over eight years, and has just recently given up the class on account of removing to Los Angeles.

Thirty-six people sat down to the banquet which was held in the dining room of the church. An elegant five course dinner had been prepared by four young ladies of the class, Misses Bessie Hill, Robbie Jones, Esther Patterson and Edith Ward, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests.

The dining room had been beautifully decorated in smilax and yellow chrysanthemums. The tables were set in a hollow square, serving being from the center. The lighting was from chrysanthemum shaded candles, lending to the charmingly artistic decorations, which were in charge of Misses Mary Shrewsbury, Velda Medlock, Hattie Whidden, and Miss Coyes. The tables were served by three of the members of Mrs. Morrow's class, Hazel Rowley, Adeline Hill and Edith Wells. Place favors were tiny tapers in chrysanthemum holders.

The guests of honor were Mr. Heninger, the former class teacher; Mrs. Heninger, Mrs. Rowley, Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Stevenson and Miss Anna Chapman, who is a member of the class now living in Los Angeles.

After supper Miss Leslie Smith, president of the class, called for responses to impromptu toasts. Miss Velda Medlock spoke of the esteem the class had for Mr. Heninger and the good wishes the class had for his future. Mr. Heninger responded to the toast, "A Backward Look," and told many interesting facts. Other talks were given by Rev. J. A. Stevenson, Mrs. Rowley, Miss Chapman and Mrs. Heninger, all of them being much enjoyed.

The members of the class regret greatly to lose Mr. Heninger, but are glad they have so able a teacher as Mrs. Rowley to fill his place.

Philharmonic Society

On account of the Eurpean Society meeting tomorrow night at the Congregational church, the Philharmonic Society will meet tonight at the church for rehearsal at the usual hour.

Kindergarten Demonstration

Those composing the large crowd which attended the recital given by the little kindergarten folks of the Orange County Conservatory of Music could not help being greatly impressed with the superiority of present day beginners' methods over those which prevailed only a few short years ago, and, in fact, are employed even yet by those who are not abreast with the times in these up-to-date educational systems.

Many surprising demonstrations of memory work in playing, writing music and in theoretical definitions were given. Charming kindergarten songs were sung, and musical stories were recited.

The tone work was shown to be clear, full of color and shading and always expressive and beautiful. The technical development of some of these little tots was truly astonishing in its gracefulness, facility and certainty.

Some had studied but two short weeks, others longer, up to a year or so. Three or four of Miss Haughton's older pupils played also, doing both themselves and their teacher splendid credit.

Mr. Gustlin's large studio, comprising three rooms, was crowded to the utmost and some were obliged to listen from the adjoining court. A stronger proof of the remarkable growth of this enterprising institution of musical learning could hardly be demanded than the growing popularity of its weekly Saturday afternoon recitals.

Past Matrons to Meet

The Past Matrons will meet tomorrow afternoon with Miss Mary Cotter at the Mission Apartments, on Fifth and Main streets. The entrance to the apartments is on Fifth street.

Wait and see the Flanders Motor cycle at Livesey's.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING

Taylor's Exhibit Handsome New Fountain and Equipment to Patrons

With the installing of the magnificent new fountain at the Taylor Bros. confectionery parlors the patrons are insured an even better service than has been previously accorded them by this popular place. All day Saturday the store was crowded with interested customers, who not only partook of the good things from the fountain and enjoyed the music furnished by Brown's orchestra, but admired the elegant oak finish, onyx columns, and the complete equipment of the fountain, and the handsome solid onyx counter, with its German silver mountings. This latter improvement represents a weight of five tons.

The present store front is to be replaced by beautiful plate glass in oak framing to correspond with the fountain and the finish of the parlor. The shelving will not be changed until after the holidays. At that time shelling in harmony with the other oak finish of the establishment will be installed along the wall opposite the fountain.

The Taylor Bros. are delighted with the present and near future improvements because of the pleasure it will afford their patrons. Future reception days will be looked forward to by Santa Ana people, because of the courtesy and cordiality accorded visitors last Saturday.

Artists on Instruments

AMUSEMENTS

Grand Opera House

That record breaker of old dramas, "In Old Kentucky," the success of which is the wonder of the amusement world, will again be seen here at the Grand Opera House, Nov. 23rd.

A simple story of Kentucky life, graphically told, "In Old Kentucky" is one of those rare dramas that leaves an impression upon the mind that time cannot efface. One who has seen the play will never forget brave little Madge Brierly, who loves Frank Layson, the aristocrat from down in the blue-grass, and who sacrifices much to save the life and fortune of her beloved. Then there is the gallant Colonel, sweet delightful Aunt Alatheia, Lorey, the moonshiner, whose life is devoted to carrying out one of those Kentucky feuds that result in bloodshed; then there is the faithful colored servant, Uncle Neb, who has trained the little pickanninies around the barnyard to make capital music as a brass band; then there is fleet-footed "Queen Bess" (the fastest mare in Old Kentucky) and countless other delightful features in this wholesome, breezy tale of the Sunny South. "In Old Kentucky's" appeal is general and lasting. No more successful play has ever been put forth or one that has continued in public favor longer. C. T. Dazey wrote "In Old Kentucky" and the late Jacob Litt produced it. Since its original presentation, the play has always remained under the same management and a high standard of excellence has always been maintained by Litt & Dingwall, who employ none but capable players and provide a scenic equipment of the highest order. The pickanninies, and there are more than a score of them, are a unique and enjoyable feature of the presentation in their songs, dances, band music and amusing antics.

"Dante's Inferno" at the Temple The Divine Comedy of Dante, one of the greatest monuments of human genius, is now presented to all mankind in a manner never before thought possible. It required two years of constant study, exceedingly difficult work and a fortune to accomplish the task undertaken by the Milano film makers of Milano, Italy. The pictures, representing Dante's vision of Hell, consist of over one hundred different scenes. This complete production of five artistic reels, about a two-hour show, will be seen at the Temple Theater tonight and Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and night matinees at 2:30—nights at 8:15 and will be your only chance to see it in Southern California.

Getting Data

The detective was trying to find a clew to the destination of the runaway couple.

"Yes, sir," answered the kitchen girl.

"What did she travel in?"

"A white hat, white slippers, and a pale blue gown, sir."

Two Weeks Treatment

We have been explaining Osteopathy, now we want to demonstrate the work. Read the special offer.

There are people in Santa Ana and vicinity who are suffering from the effects of falls, strains, or other accidents, that have caused slight injuries to their spines, resulting in nervousness, neuralgia pains, or numbness, poor circulation, headaches, throat or bronchial trouble, pain in the chest—indigestion, sluggish liver, constipation and other ailments that I know positively could be benefited, or entirely relieved by Osteopathic treatment.

There are children, whose little ailments are directly due to injuries received at play. Some of these are developing spinal curvature. These troubles can be cured now, while the little bones are soft, when the spine has become set, it will be too late. I believe if parents could realize these things they would gladly place these children under Osteopathic care.

So many people could be helped, if they but knew the value of Osteopathy, and they would all become enthusiastic friends of the Science. This is what I want. I want to help you, and I want your influence for myself and for Osteopathy, but I also realize that to many, the Science is new, and is somewhat in the nature of an experiment, and for this reason I am going to make it possible for those who would like to give the treatment a trial to do so, at very little expense.

My Special Offer Just to get you interested in Osteopathy I will give two weeks' treatment free to all patients who begin before Nov. 25th, 1911, and who will agree to take at least one month's treatment.

In other words, when you pay for half a month I will give you a receipt for a full month; of you arrange for one month I will give you a receipt for 6 weeks' treatment.

This will give me time to show some good results. One month may entirely relieve you, if so, I shall be delighted, for I think you will tell your friends. If one month is not quite enough, you will be so pleased with results you will want to continue until cured.

After Nov. 25th my charges will be the usual Osteopathic fees.

CROPS OF GREAT CITRUS GROWING STATES ARE SHOWN

Orange and Lemon Production of Florida and California as Told in Figures of Census

WASHINGTON, Nov. 18.—A preliminary statement giving statistics of the orange and lemon crops in California and Florida, the two principal states of production, as reported for the Thirtieth United States Census was issued today by Director Durand of the Bureau of the Census of the Department of Commerce and Labor. It includes a summary giving the number of trees, of both kinds, of bearing and non-bearing age on farms on April 15, 1910, together with the number of boxes produced and the value thereof in 1909. It was prepared under the direction of Dr. LeGrand Powers, chief statistician for agriculture, Bureau of the Census. The figures are subject to such revision as may be necessary after a further examination of the original reports.

The Census Bureau calls attention to the fact that the number of trees reported in 1910 is not altogether comparable with the figures reported in 1900. In the latter year the trees reported as of bearing age undoubtedly included a considerable number not of bearing age. In the census of 1910 the difficulty was eliminated as both the number of trees of bearing age and those not of bearing age were called for by the schedule. Moreover, the orange and lemon growers of Florida had not in 1900 recovered from the damage by frost inflicted a few years earlier, resulting in a crop less than half as great as in 1890.

California Orange Crop, 1909 and 1899
The orange crop of California made a gain of 145.4 per cent during the decade between 1899 and 1909, increasing from 5,882,000 boxes in 1899 to 14,436,000 boxes in 1909. During the same period of time the number of trees of bearing age increased from

BEAN BAGS WILL BE TURNED OUT AT PRISON JUTE MILL

Oxnard Courier: Following the request of the Lima Bean Growers' Association, to Governor Johnson, that he take steps to secure the manufacture of bean bags in the jute mill of the San Quentin State prison, comes the announcement today from the north that the meeting of the prison board, held Monday, the request was granted.

The announcement will be gladly received by bean ranchers, and Manager Waterman of the association expressed himself this morning as being delighted and grateful to the state official in his action.

As will be remembered by many, when Governor Johnson was in this vicinity some months ago he was visited by a committee of the Lima Bean Growers' Association, who informed him that the association desired if possible to have bean bags manufactured in the jute mill at San Quentin. The Governor was shown that the association was dependent upon dealers in bean bags, and that there was as large a demand for prison made bags as for barley or wheat bags.

The matter was taken under consideration by the state's head and then presented personally to the State Prison Commission and at a meeting of the prison directors the request for prison made bags was granted.

BREAKS A COLD IN JUST A FEW HOURS

Says Quinine Isn't Effective in the Cure of Colds and Grippe

Nothing else that you can take will break your cold or end grippe so promptly as a dose of Pape's Cold Compound every two hours until three consecutive doses are taken.

The most miserable headache, dizziness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, running of the nose, sore throat, mucous catarrhal discharges, soreness, stiffness, rheumatism pains and other distress begin to leave after the very first dose. Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world, which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.

NATIVITY CENSUS OF UNITED STATES

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 20.—The Director of the Census has issued a preliminary statement of the population of continental United States, distributed according to its elements of race, nativity and parentage, as shown by the returns of the Thirtieth Decennial Census, taken as of April 15, 1910.

Of the total population of continental United States—that is, excluding Alaska, Porto Rico, and other outlying possessions—in 1910, the native white element, numbering 68,389,104, constituted 74.4 per cent, while the foreign-born white element, numbering 13,343,583, constituted 14.5 per cent. The native white population in 1910 was almost the same as in 1900, but slightly larger than in 1890 or 1880. The foreign-born white population constituted 13.1 per cent of the total in 1880, rose to 14.5 per cent in 1890, fell to 13.4 per cent in 1900, and was again 14.5 per cent in 1910. These fluctuations were due to the very large immigration from 1880 to 1890 and again from 1900 to 1910.

Of the entire white population in 1910, namely, 81,732,687, the foreign-born whites constituted 16.3 per cent, as compared with 15.3 per cent in 1900, 16.6 per cent in 1890, and 15.1 per cent in 1880.

For the last three Federal censuses the native white population has been further subdivided with respect to parentage. Those classed as having native parents are persons with both parents native; those having one or both parents foreign born are classed as of foreign parentage. Table No. 1 shows that in 1910 the native white population having both parents native numbered 49,488,441, while those having one or both parents foreign born numbered 18,900,663, or 53.8 and 20.6 per cent, respectively, of the total population of the country at that census. These proportions are practically the same as those shown by the census of 1900, but, as compared with 1890, there has been a slight decrease—from 54.7 to 53.8 per cent—in the proportion of native white persons of native parentage, and a considerable increase—from 18.3 to 20.6 per cent—in the proportion of native white persons of foreign parentage. The latter class constituted 27.6 per cent of the total native white population in both 1910 and 1900, as compared with 25 per cent in 1890.

The Because Man

Suppose everyone did just what he intended to do and no one failed "because." Then there would be no failures to point out. There would be no subjects for sermons for those who had no "because" attached to their names. The man without the title could not point to the "because" man and say: "He did not succeed 'because.'" So the "because" man may take heart and feel that because he did not he is surely at last the subject of this sketch. True he did not scale the rugged wall, nor climb to heights unseen by the masses who are also other "because" men.

Most of us are "because" men, we yearn for the unattainable; we feel that life is a failure. But maybe the realities are dreams of callow youth did not come nearer the dreams than we think. Maybe the awakening will show that the "because" men climbed higher than they thought and maybe the judge will show those who stood on the heights that the "clouds" are well worth striving for but in the depths there is some sunlight. But the man should never have "because" as an excuse.

The Greatest Science

"The greatest science men can study is the science of living with other men. There is no other thing that is so taxing, requires so much education, so much wisdom, so much practice as how to live together." We are studying how to control the forces of nature, but the forces of human nature are more difficult still. There is no art that is finer than the art of being at peace with our neighbors, national and individual.—Selected.

LAGUNA ROAD BRIDGE BURNED

Foothill Fire Takes Down the Fences and County Span
Across Ravine

Fire that started Saturday morning in the north hills of the Laguna hills burnt over an area six or seven miles long and from one to four miles wide. The hills were mostly brush-covered. No crops were touched or damaged. Several miles of fence went down, and a county bridge across a ravine on the Laguna road was destroyed.

The bridge was the first bridge south of the first hill on the road to Laguna. The bridge and bulkhead were burned clean. Men from the Irvine Company yesterday set to work digging away the side of the hill so as to give passage along the road until such time as the bridge can be replaced. Automobiles will find it better to go by way of the El Toro road.

The fire was under control yesterday and is out today.

Thanksgiving Turkey Guessing Contest

A Trial of Your Skill in Estimating the Live Weight of Two Very Lively Turkeys. No Lot or Chance About It, Except a Lot of Fun and a Chance to See Who's the Best Guessers.

EVERY CUSTOMER who makes any purchase, large or small, in our store between now and the Wednesday before Thanksgiving will be given a guessing blank. You are to write on this blank what you judge to be the live weight of either of the two turkeys and after adding your name and address for identification you are to drop the blank in the ballot box we have put up for this purpose in our store. If your guess comes nearest to the correct live weight of either one of these two turkeys, then you win that turkey. The person who guesses nearest to the correct live weight of the gobbler wins the gobbler, and the person who guesses nearest to the correct live weight of the hen wins the hen.

This contest closes at 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday, November 29th, and no guess can be deposited after that time. Immediately after closing contest we will carefully weigh each of these turkeys alive to determine what the exact live weight of each is. We will put a placard in our window announcing the correct weight and we will begin at once to canvass the guesses to determine the winners. At 1:30 p. m. on Wednesday, November 29th, we will put placards in the window announcing who won each turkey and how close their guess came to the exact weight of the turkey. Perhaps we will have the pleasure of putting your name on one of these placards as winner of one of these two fine turkeys. The turkeys will be delivered Wednesday night either alive or dressed, whichever way the winners prefer.

One of These Two Turkeys May be Served on Your Table on Thanksgiving Day

TRY FOR A TURKEY—COMMENCE TODAY

YOU MAY WIN—try anyway—you will have lots of fun. Remember you get one guess every time you make any purchase here, whether the purchase is large or small makes not a particle of difference. Don't neglect a single opportunity of making a guess. Just as often as you need drug store goods, get them here and make a guess at the weight of one of these two turkeys.

TELL YOUR FRIENDS—tell your friends about the jolly time they will have making their turkey guesses at our store—tell them what a fine pair of turkeys we are offering as prizes. Let them catch the fever too and you will see them standing before our window intently studying these two turkeys and trying to make a close guess as to just what each one weighs.

AT THE COURT HOUSE

ORDERED HIM TO WHITTIER

Boy of 12 Years Entered Numerous Stores at Huntington Beach

Rafael Palacio, aged 12 years, is to go to the reform school at Whittier. He seems to have a natural-born bent toward theft. He confessed to half a dozen burglaries at Huntington Beach, and this morning as he was taken from the detention home to court he carried away a pair of shoes that belonged to another boy at the home.

Probation Officer Scott and the beach city officers have recovered most of the stolen property. Among the places entered by the boy are: Nov. 4, Howard's grocery, pennies stolen; Nov. 12, Halsell's drug store, $11 stolen; Nov. 14, same store, revolver and pennies stolen; Nov. 14, jewelry store, rings, bracelets, two watches and half-dozen spoons stolen.

The boy gave away a number of things, and was thus detected. Saturday he ran away from the detention home, and Superintendent Hill later caught him as he was going along the Pacific Electric tracks toward Huntington Beach.

In court this morning, the boy told Judge West that a white boy was with him in the burglaries, but Rafael could not remember the boy's name. The judge ordered the boy committed to the Whittier school.

One Vote for Kipling

A certain senator is an expert on "Kipling law," but in the words of the Washington Post, "he is not up on literature." Some time ago he introduced a bill for the relief of a gallant Union soldier, named Mulvaney. Presently an eastern colleague went over to him.

"I am very glad you introduced that bill," he remarked. "Mulvaney and I are old friends."

"Is that so?" responded the western statesman. "I am pleased that you take an interest in him, and I hope that you will vote for the bill. I don't know him myself, but he has been highly recommended to me, and seems to be a most deserving case."

"Yes," said the wicked colleague, "Kipling is the best fellow that ever lived, a lively, fighting, big-hearted, lovable, humorous Irishman. You will be surprised to know how often I have spent the days and nights with him in camp, and how much I enjoyed it. By the way," he added, "I have another friend you ought to know. His name is Kipling—Rudyard Kipling."

"Never heard of him," said the Senator from the west, as he turned away, "but if you are going to introduce a bill for his relief, let me know. I'll help you all I can."

Jenny Geddes

Of the memories that gather around St. Giles' cathedral, Edinburgh, none is more cherished by the Scotsman than the story of Jenny Geddes. Charles I., determined to force episcopacy, commanded that on July 23, 1637, the English church service should be read in every parish church in Scotland. On that Sunday a great crowd gathered at St. Giles, and when Jean Hannay, in a surplice, began to read the prayers, such a commotion ensued that his voice was drowned. One voice, however, rose above the din—Jenny Geddes. "Out! Out!" she cried. "Does the false loon mean to say his black mass at my lug?" and elzing her stool she threw it at the head of the astonished dean. There followed such an uproar that the service had to be abandoned.

In modern and more peaceful times his event, momentous in its outcome, has been commemorated by two memorial tablets in the cathedral. One is to Dean Hannay, the other erected by Lord President Inglis, is to the memory of "a brave Scotswoman, Janet Geddes, who on July 23, 1637, struck the first blow in the great struggle for freedom of conscience, which after a conflict of half a century, ended in the establishment of civil and religious liberty."

What Water Will Do

It will quench fire and melt ice. It will break up a convention of hobos or suffragettes. It will clean a street and clean out a mob. It will stop a political convention or a county fair. It will stop a street parade or a funeral procession. It will stop a mule from kicking or bronco from bucking. It will demoralize a temperance lecturer or a distiller of alcohol. It will interfere with church revivals and stop a prayer meeting. It will clean out any kind of a house, from a pig pen to a cathedral. It will stop a dog-fight, cat-fight, prize-fight or any other kind of a fight.

PROF. A. J. COOK IS BUSIEST OF MEN

Southern Californian Opens Up Horticultural Activity at Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—The active nature of Prof. A. J. Cook, the newly appointed horticultural commissioner, has been an agreeable surprise at the capital. Though in office but two weeks so far Prof. Cook has announced a program the like of which is not recorded in the history of the commission.

In the first place, Prof. Cook intends to devote much attention to the eradication of the fungus of citrus trees. He considers it important to wage a campaign on fungi, particularly important for the commission to undertake the work because fungus is a mystery to most California growers and an expert is required to combat it.

Prof. H. S. Fawcett of Florida has been employed by Prof. Cook to come to California and conduct a fight against citrus fungi as well as the disease that attacks deciduous trees. Citrus trees, however, are more frequently attacked.

In the second place, Prof. Clark will shortly commence a campaign to clean up the nurseries of the state; to see that they are freed of injurious insects. He recognizes in the nurseries an agency that may spread insects and diseases and has determined that they must be rid of all fruit tree pests.

Growers to Be Cautioned
No quarantine will be placed on alfalfa coming from Utah, where the alfalfa weevil flourishes, for the present, but Prof. Cook announces a campaign of education by which he hopes to have all growers on the guard for the pest.

Prof. H. A. Weinland of Santa Rosa, formerly of Riverside, has been chosen by Prof. Cook to go to Honolulu and help stamp out the Mediterranean fruit fly which it is feared may gain entrance to this state. A man is to be sent to aid the island people on the theory that if the pest were stamped out in the Hawaiian Islands there need be little fear that it will reach California.

Will Issue Monthly Journal

One of the most important innovations of Prof. Cook's is the publication of a monthly journal which will be issued by the commission to keep fruit and other growers of the state in touch with the work of the body and advanced methods in horticulture. Particular attention will be devoted to insects and fungi.

The journal is to be edited by Secretary E. O. Essig, who was formerly horticultural commissioner of Ventura County. Prof. Cook will be a contributor, and the assistant editors will be as follows: Chief deputy, G. E. Merrill; superintendent, E. K. Carnes of the state insectary, and chief quarantine officer, O. E. Brammer.

Ten Minutes or So

"What are you doing?"
"I was just trying to compute the length of time it would take to exterminate the flies if they wore plumage fit to go on a woman's hat."

Haines - Houser STOCKTON Reversible Gang Plow

1912 MODEL 3

Built on the same lines, of the same good material and with the same care as our other models, our No. 3 Stockton Reversible Gang Plow is one of the finest and most convenient plows made. By use of the No. 3, or Furrow Wheel Lever, in conjunction with the Rear Lever and Land Shifter, the plow may be adjusted to any depth desired or to meet any condition that may be experienced, without stopping the plow. This feature, besides saving much valuable time, allows the plow to be kept level at all times, and therefore insures smooth running and fine furrows, regardless of conditions.
